Miss Hamilton Finds Farmers Are Taking To The Plan

December 2 Meeting To Bring Numbers Into The Cities

Farmers are displaying an unusual amount of interest in the coming curb market meeting to be conducted by Miss Isadore Williams, Tuscaloosa county home demonstration agent, at the Y. M. C. A., the morning of December 2 at 10 o'clock.

Farmers and farmer's wives will be here in large numbers December 2 to attend this meeting in which the various angles of the curb market project will be explained, according to Miss Sallie Hamilton, home demonstration agent of Morgan county.

"Farmers have been coming to me and asking me about this meeting," said Miss Hamilton today. "I believe they will be here in large numbers for they are interested in the success of the plan which has already been explained to them."

"One farmer," declared Miss Hamilton, "came to me and told me that the market was a fine thing and would prove a great benefit to the farm interests of this section. Incidentally, this farmer was planning to leave this section of the country and the curb market plan may hold him here."

Commerce Body Asked
In connection with the meeting scheduled for the second of next month, at which all business men, housewives of Albany-Decatur and other citizens are urged to attend, J. C. Ford, county farm agent today issued the following invitation to members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce: "To the Members of the Albany-Decatur Junior Chamber of Commerce: Miss Hamilton and I take this method for inviting you to attend the community or curb market meeting to be held at the L. & N. R. Y. M. C. A., Thursday, December 2 at 10 o'clock. Miss Williams, home agent of Tuscaloosa county, who organized the market there, will be with us and give full information on the organization and management of the market."

Very truly yours,
J. C. FORD, County Agent.

HOSPITAL WING IS TAKING FROM NOW

New Unit Is Expected To Be Occupied Early In Year

The construction of the new wing to Benevolent hospital is being pushed forward with considerable speed and it is indicated at present that the early estimate that the building could be occupied shortly after January 1 will not be far wrong.

The walls of the building are up, the roof and today crews of plasterers were at work on the interior.

The new unit was made possible by a successful campaign for $60,000, conducted by local people early this spring under the auspices of the Tennessee Valley Shriners. Completion of the wing will double the capacity of the local institution.

Wounded Youth Now Recovering

CALLS ATTORNEY GOV. WHITFIELD GENERAL TO STAND HAS AN OPERATION

Daugherty Testifies Left Leg Amputated Regarding Affairs Of Department After Having A Bruised Knee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general of the United States and himself under indictment on a conspiracy charge was called to the witness stand today in the Fall-Doherty oil case.

The former cabinet official made his appearance unexpectedly to lend spice to the hum-drum tenor of the more or less technical testimony which the prosecution has been presenting to strengthen its claim that former secretary Fall of the Interior department and Edward L. Doherty, wealthy oil operator, had entered into a conspiracy in connection with the naval oil leases.

Daugherty with Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, was tried in New York recently in a case involving the disposal of seized alien property, the case resulting in a mistrial. Today the oil prosecution called him for questioning concerning the part taken by the Department of Justice in connection with the Elk Hill Naval oil reserve and the Pearl Harbor Naval base. He said he had never been asked for an opinion on the legality of the proposed contract and leases.

As a matter of fact, Daugherty said, he did not know such leases and contracts ever had come to the Department of Justice in any way. He added that he did not know Doherty.

On cross examination the former attorney general said that each governmental department had its own legal staff and it was customary to present legal questions to the attorney-general only when the departmental staff were in doubt as to the law.

The government objected to Daugherty answering a general question as to the usual custom in legal procedure within the department. The court overruled the objection and the witness told of the process through which departmental questions came to the attorney-general when they did.

He said every opinion he ever had rendered as attorney general was the matter of record in the Department of Justice, bearing his own signature. He never had been asked for a "curb stone" opinion of the oil leasing negotiation, he said.

COUNCIL TO MEET

The Friday night session of the Albany city council is expected to be an important one, quite a few bits of legislation being scheduled for attention, including the filling of the vacancy in the police department and adoption of a new traffic code.

BRIDGE ABUTMENT ON NORTHERN SIDE NOW IS UNDERWAY

Excavating Also For Pier No. 12 Makes Good Progress

CONDUITS FOR LIGHTS HERE

Steel Fabrication Of Bascule Span Is About Finished

The Koss Construction company now is pushing excavation for the northern abutment for the Tennessee river bridge, together with pier number 12, the northernmost pier. A large crew of men is engaged in this work, the available resources of the company having been put to work on the Limestone side of the stream, following interruption of construction on number six arch.

Rumors of serious damage to the bridge, which gained some headway in the cities were set at rest by bridge construction officials today. The work on number six arch was interrupted, it was said, when it was discovered something had gone wrong in some of the steel support for the concrete, permitting a slight slip, not visible to the eye, but discovered by careful engineering observation. The interruption of the work was an indication of the extreme care being used in all features of the bridge construction.

Engineers are expected to have this difficulty overcome within a short time and work will be resumed on the arches as soon as such is done.

The shifting of the crews from the arches to the abutment and piers is not expected to have any appreciable result on the time of completion of the bridge. All of the work had to be done and it was not an important matter, it was stated, which was accomplished first.

Excavators today are considerably below the surface in their search for a solid foundation for the bridge abutment. Further tests will be made, however, to determine the depth of the rock formation now being encountered.

Conduits arrived today for the white way, which the state is understood to expect to provide from this side of the stream to the bascule span. The cities probably will be asked to provide for lighting the remainder of the bridge.

Word received here from the Mt. Vernon Bridge company, which will build the bascule span, was to the effect that most of the fabrication of steel for that project has been completed, and material will arrive here at an early date and work will begin.

Terry, Trinity farmer who was in the cities today on business, Mr. Terry declared that while there is some cotton remaining in the fields that help is so high and weather conditions so unfavorable that it is probable that remnants will be left. The Trinity farmer stated that ginning had slowed up to a great extent.

GOOD REPUTATION IS NOT GIVEN JANE BY STATE WITNESS

Mild Sensation When Physician Testifies In Trial Today

AIR IS TENSE IN COURTROOM

State May Request A Mistrial Because Strange Letter

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Introduced by the state to testify as to the reputation of Mrs. Jane Gibson for truth and veracity, a witness created a mild sensation in court today by saying that it was "not so good."

The defense had offered a dozen witnesses to say that Mrs. Gibson, regarded as the star witness for the prosecution, bore a poor reputation for truthfulness in the community in which she lived and Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson announced that he would offer character witnesses for Mrs. Gibson in rebuttal.

Dr. Walter Madden, of Trenton, first character witness called, was not permitted to testify when it was developed that he had not known Mrs. Gibson for 12 years.

Another physician, Dr. J. H. Cooper, of Millstone, then furnished the surprising testimony from a state's witness.

The crowd in the courtroom, filling only a portion of the seats, in contrast to the previous day of the trial, seemed bored as a handwriting expert testified as to the pencilled entries in Henry Stevens's 1922 diary.

There was no great interest when the prosecutor asked Dr. Cooper the stereotyped question: "What is her reputation for truth and veracity, good or bad?"

The crowd sat up when Dr. Cooper replied:

"Not so good."

Later the witness said in reply to a question from state's lawyers that her "reputation was about 50-50."

The court opened with a tense feeling in the air, caused by an announcement yesterday that when the evidence is in, the state will ask that a mistrial be directed. Other than that, a letter had been written in which the conduct of the jury was criticized.

Business Now On Upgrade Locally

General business conditions are believed to be on the upgrade in these cities, according to opinions given today by various merchants who state that they enjoyed an unusually good business on both Saturday and Monday in farm and industrial business. Saturday saw an unusually large number of farmers in these cities, while Monday's "pay day" brought good crowds on the streets. Merchants reported a corresponding increase in buying and believe that the holiday season will bring about one of the heaviest buying records made in years.

North Alabama Cities Want The Crimson Host To Visit Enroute

Whether the University of Alabama returns from the Pacific Coast with "Yea Alabama" as familiar in United States homes as grapefruit, or if the Crimson host returns a defeated team, the people in North Alabama cities want the Tide as guests at least for a few minutes.

Huntsville gets the credit for starting the move, asking Dr. George Denny, Alabama prexy, to allow the Crimson to remain in that city for a short time at least. Huntsville has called upon Albany-Decatur and other cities to make the best of the bid and halt the Crimson Tide on their trip home.

If the cities halt the Tide they will in all probability be the first to halt that Tide in a number of years, nevertheless they are going to try to get the Tide to stop long enough to see some of the appreciation felt over the state of Alabama for the efforts of that football team.

TOBACCO IS SOLE CROP REVEALING DECREASED YIELD

Marked Increase For Other Staples In Sixth District

GINNINGS ARE MUCH HIGHER

Mississippi Is In Lead Of District In Total Yield

ATLANTA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Estimated production of cotton for 1926 in the sixth federal reserve district is 9.7 per cent greater than the yield of 1925, while for the country as a whole this year's crop gives promise to be 17,918,000 bales, or 11.3 per cent greater than final ginnings for last year, the monthly business review for the district pointed out today.

Based on conditions of November 1, the estimated cotton production for the sixth district does not include, however, those parts of Tennessee, Louisiana and Mississippi located in other federal reserve districts.

Larger crops of corn, wheat, oats and potatoes, also were forecast for the district, while the tobacco crop showed about the same total as that of last year.

The states included in the sixth federal reserve district are: Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

The estimated yield of cotton in this district is 3,685,000 bales as compared with 3,358,000 bales in 1925. Other crop estimates for the district were as follows: Corn 191,189,000 bushels, or 19 per cent increased production over last year; wheat 8,669,000 or an increase of 66.3 per cent; oats 20,021,000 or 39.1 per cent increase; tobacco 127,065,000 pounds or a decrease of one per cent, and potatoes 11,313,000 bushels, an increase of 34.4 per cent.

Mississippi, with 1,830,000 bales, led all the states in the federal reserve district in the estimated yield of cotton this year; Georgia was second with 1,490,000 bales and Alabama third with 1,450,000.

High Water May Delay Work On The Lake Bridge

Work is progressing nicely on the bridge being constructed across Swan lake, as part of the development of the Bee Line highway just across the river from here, but if the water in the lake gets much higher, a delay may result.

Word reaching here today was to the effect that the level of the lake now lacks but approximately three inches of the point where work must be halted. With the winter season here, it is regarded as likely that the lake level would go that much higher.

BENSON THINKS GAME IMPROBABLE

Left To The Coaches And Principals To Decide

W. W. Benson, superintendent of Decatur school system, declared today that he did not think a post-season affair between Albany and Decatur Hi grid representatives is probable, although the decision will be left to coaches and principals of the school concerned. Mr. Benson was of the opinion that a definite decision could be given at an early date.

With school officials still undecided it is almost a certainty that the two high school eleven will be held up from playing this week-end. Another week may improve the condition of the field at Malone Park, rains the latter part of last week and the early part of this week have caused a soggy condition on the playing field.

Mr. Benson said today that he did not usually favor post-season games, but under the circumstances he was not adverse to allowing this game played. He added, however, that he felt sure the game would be in violation of the rules and regulations of the state athletic association's code.

The bank was organized in 1920 and about 18 months ago closed its doors for a short period. The institution was reopened by the payment of new capital, since which time the officials have made an earnest effort to work out the financial details. It is understood the bank had approximately $100,000 on deposit with bills payable of approximately $30,000.

Bill Hendrix Is Leading Scorer In The S. I. C., Rauber And Peake Tie In 2nd

Bill Hendrix, the demon line crasher, who crashed against Seawance with a thud on Thanksgiving Day at Nashville, leads the Southern Conference in scoring this year. Bill grabbed off 96 points for sixteen jaunts across the last life of the opposition during the 1926 football season.

Hendrix, Vandy's best bet when yardage was in demand, was followed by Ty Rauber of Washington & Lee and Peake of V. P. I. who were tied in second place with 55 points each. Ty Rauber, the General's ace, was given an almost unanimous hand for the position of fullback on the mythical All-Southern eleven. Ty had a great deal of trouble in fumbling this year but there were doggone few lines to hold him when he plunged near that old goal line.

For a time it looked as if Hendrix might have been given the choice of the place, Bill was playing consistent football while Rauber was tossing the agate about at times when he was called into the line, but that wasn't all Ty's fault. Rauber was using a play in which he flashed the ball above his head for an instant to make the plunge look like a pass. Frequently he was met by the opposing line before he could bring that oval to rest in his armpit and then there followed a scramble for that agate. Ty again seemed to falter against Virginia and there were numbers of people who said that the Virginia game would cost him his coveted place on the mythical team, yet with his expert football head and his battle against Georgia Tech he came through to the position desired. Bill Hendrix is a great fullback.

Going on down the line in the scoring list Meeks of Mississippi A. & M. and Barnes of Alabama shared equally in third place with 49 points, while Smith of Kentucky was the next fleet-footed choice, having totaled 48 for the season. Fifth place is given to three men with 42 points each, Thomas of Maryland, Wimberly of South Carolina and Caldwell of Alabama. Caldwell scored half his points in kicking goals. Mackall of Virginia led the field in goal kicks with four, the Virginia captain displaying an adept foot when three points proved precious.

Turning to the Crimson Tide, the team which rolled up the heaviest score of the year, it is noticed that 176 of the Tide's 251 points were made by Caldwell, Brown, Wimslett, Taylor and Barnes.

Seawance did not win a single conference game and barely came away with winnow-ay games at all, but Mountain Helvey, the Tiger fullback who was chosen by some writers as the chief fullback in the South, scored 59 points and stood in sixth place among the scorers. Helvey likely would have scored a great many more times than that had he not been played on end a great deal.

TODAY 12 Years Ago

Officers are investigating the finding of the body of Fred Brodey on the Southern railroad tracks Saturday night.

Both the circuit court and the law and equity court were convened this morning.

Jeff and Lamar Eyster returned to Branhams and Hughes school this morning, after spending the Thanksgiving holidays with relatives here.

After spending the holidays with her parents here, Miss Fannie Brown Collier has returned to Florence Normal.

Dr. J. L. Gunter is able to be out after an illness of several days.

Why hasn't someone thought of providing a plan to aid the merchants in financing the Christmas shopping?

Now someone has discovered there is no law against selling and buying machine guns. Again the pace of crime has proved to be faster than the pace of legal restrictions.

Having reached the conclusion they have the best community in the South (and that means in the nation), citizens of Albany-Decatur now are proving it.

Possession of a good football team does not necessarily mean a good college, but an increase in enrollment is one certainty which may be counted on.

A few years ago America was alarmed because of the ascendancy of the Reds in Europe. Today, the jealous attitude of the European nations toward the United States has a decidedly greenish hue.

The weather man in north Alabama, up to this time, appears to have been observing fire prevention week, but plenty of cold weather will be the valley's lot before all of the Christmas bills are paid.

With erection of the new Connecticut Mills plant, the completion of the highway bridge across the Tennessee river here, and the strong possibility of major league baseball, the spring appears as an important period in the history of the Twin Cities.

"If the newspapers carried a story one day that a disease had hit this city and was taking a life out of every family each year, citizens would be greatly alarmed," warned a radio speaker the other evening, "yet traffic accidents are doing that very thing now and nothing is done to check it."

Ever so often things happen to renew one's faith in human nature and in the world in general. Following the publication a day or two ago of a story in The Daily, telling of the desire of a local paralytic for Santa Claus to bring her a wheel chair, the telephone rang and a voice told the writer: "I want to contribute to a fund to buy that wheel chair. Whatever my share is, put me down, but please don't use my name." Charity mercy and brotherly love still exists.

THE TIDE WILL FLOW WEST; CITIES SHOULD HONOR ALABAMA.

Last year, when announcement was made that the football team of the University of Alabama had received the recognition which comes to but few, viz., and invitation to meet the Western coast champions in the Pasadena bowl on New Year's day as part of the Tournament of Roses program, the whole state rejoiced.

At that time efforts were made to have the Tide stop here for a few minutes, at least, as it began its westward journey, so that the people of Albany-Decatur could give to the Crimson wearers a "send off" from this, the last major city through which the team passed as it left the confines of Alabama to seek fame on the far western coast.

The authorities at the University, however, were unable to arrange the stop-over here, inasmuch as it was necessary to halt the train journey in Birmingham.

This year the Tide will go back to Pasadena. No announcement has been made yet as to the route the team will take, but should the way selected take the team through the northern part of the state, The Daily hopes that Twin City civic organizations may be able to persuade the university officials to permit a short stop here.

It would be a fine thing for Albany-Decatur and it would be a fine thing for the university, if the people of the Tennessee Valley had an opportunity to wish, in person, the best of luck to the doughty warriors of the gridiron as they leave to plant the Crimson and White of the state's leading school, aloft in the far west.

The Daily also feels that on this long trek westward, the university deserves to have its own band along. For some reason, the band was not taken to the coast last year. Of course, the Crimson and White was not without musical support in its victory over the University of Washington, but it was necessary to employ a California band to play the Alabama air. The "Million Dollar Band" of the University is declared to be one of the best musical aggregations in college circles and by all means its members should have the chance to display their talent, along with that of the football team, in Rose Bowl.

WHAT CAN BE DONE TO MAKE THE PACE OF JUSTICE SWIFTER?

At the risk of being called "radical," The Daily would like to ask the incoming legislature what, if anything, it can or will do to speed up the action of courts in Alabama?

If these legislators were manufacturers, and their plants were as far behind in their orders, as are many of the courts in Alabama today, something would be done to relieve the situation. Why, then, would it not be to the best interests of all to do something about this, one of the principal features of public affairs?

Laymen, naturally, are somewhat timid about airing their opinions of legal procedure, realizing their own ignorance of the subject, but many laymen cannot understand why the ends of justice would not be met if an arrangement could be found for immediate trial of persons suspected of crime.

Is there any real necessity for delays of months? Would it not be just as well for the public if a defendant, arrested tonight on a serious charge, could be given a trial in court at once. This rule is followed in police courts, as a general thing. Of course in the more serious cases, it would be necessary for the grand jury to have an opportunity to pass on the evidence, but more frequent sessions of that body, together with shorter terms, would work no appreciable hardship on the personnel of these investigating bodies.

Is there any reason why every county in the state, should not have some state court open at all times? The Daily, for one, cannot see just how any hardship would be imposed on the court attaches, the attorneys or the defendants if this suggestion was adopted.

These are questions which might well merit the attention of the legislature, when it begins consideration of state's affairs next January.

PROGRESS BEING MADE IN PLAN TO BUILD BIG TEXTILE PLANT.

Announcement in Monday's issue of The Daily that bids will be opened on December 16 for construction of the $600,000 plant here for the Connecticut Mills Company was a decidedly cheering note.

The announcement convinced any who might have felt that the mill was a possibility of the distant future, that such was not the case. On the other hand, the Textile Realty Company's officials and the officials of the Connecticut Mills Company stated when negotiations were concluded for the mill, that no time would be lost in construction of the building. The events now are bearing out these assertions.

On December 16, bids for the plant will be in the hands of officials of the local company and within a few days after that date, the contract is expected to be signed. Work will start at the earliest possible time and by January 1, it is believed, actual construction will be underway, under an agreement calling for completion within 90 days.

It will be seen President Obidiah Butler was not far wrong, when he told The Daily several weeks ago, that he had hopes of having the mill in actual operation by June 1.

Some insight into the character of the new industrialist is gleaned from "reading between the lines" in the negotiations for the plant and the subsequent developments. The phrase "go getter" has been alarmingly overworked. Yet, it remains somewhat descriptive of this New Englander who believes in the future of the South and its possibilities to the extent he is willing to risk a few millions of dollars here.

President Butler obviously is a man who seeks results and who gets them. There is little lost motion in his affairs, one would dare to say, after even a passing acquaintance with him. He gives the appearance of knowing exactly what he wants and how to get it.

Aside from his company, the addition of President Butler to the citizenship of Albany-Decatur will be a distinctive one. He can, and no doubt will be, of vast assistance to the Twin Cities in the furtherance of future industrial plans and civic campaigns.

CITY OF ALBANY PLANS TO GET ECHOLS HILL REPAIRED.

Announcement is made that representatives of the City of Albany and of the state will confer, in Montgomery, on December 7, in regard to the repair of Echols hill. This news will come as an encouraging bit of information to the hundreds of people who are forced to use this highway in going to and from the Twin Cities.

When the present administration took office in Albany it had several perplexing questions to work out, principal among them being the financial condition of the city, the repair of Echols hill, the repair of Second avenue and the re-drafting of a traffic law which would come nearer the requirements than the one in force.

The officials tackled these jobs with a vim and they must derive considerable pleasure from the accomplishments they already have made. The tax rate has been raised and the budget lowered. These two contingencies should result in the city, not only living within its income, but laying aside something with which to whittle down its indebtedness. This is a good start.

Now the public is advised that the city fathers are planning to work out some plan for repair of Echols Hill. The Daily believes that the officials will have that thoroughfare repaired at no distant date. Certainly they can look back on a piece of civic work well done, when that has been accomplished.

At the next meeting of the council, it is likely that a new traffic law will be introduced. The Daily does not know what its provisions will be, but officials are hopeful that it will be pleasing to the citizens of Albany and will safeguard the lives and property of these citizens and visitors.

With such a good start on their wholesale program, The Daily does not believe the officials will permit failure to do something about Second avenue to mar an otherwise well nigh perfect record. As astute business men, the administration must realize that the present condition of Second avenue, not only is embarrassing, but really is a trade barrier of the first magnitude.

With such conviction on the part of the officials of the City of Albany, The Daily cannot help but believe that Second avenue, too, will come in for its share of consideration soon.

POLITICAL FORGET PRACTICE

The Views of Others

$13,000,000.00 Available On Cotton; Money Is Generally Plentiful and Also Great Value Comes From Federal Reserve Bank System.

Surveys of financial conditions find them in excellent shape. There is plenty of money for every legitimate need, there being no cause whatever for worry or cramps in the money market. Anyone who tells you our banks are not in good condition or that money is tight is all wrong. With the $13,000,000.00 now available for quick relief of the cotton market, the aid always ready from the Federal Reserve Bank System and a general desire on the part of our banks here and elsewhere to encourage and help in the program of business expansion, there's every reason for good feeling and optimism. We have said it before and we say it again that there can be no hard times or tightening of the money market except as one makes it application to his own condition. In other words everything is all right. With more money than ever, it is also good to know some more of the Federal Reserve Bank System. The Anniston Star speaking of the wide open proof of this wonderful value in times like these says the Federal Reserve Bank System has proven its value to American finance in many ways. It always is helping in an emergency and doing what was impossible to do in the old days, when there was no Reserve Bank System and when banks that had runs made on them without just cause, usually had to close their doors.

An instance in which the Federal Reserve Bank put an end to a run on a member bank and restored confidence among depositors who had become panic-stricken, was seen recently in Kansas City. There was a run on a Kansas City bank. Scores of depositors assembled in front of the institution waiting for the opening. The checks for their balances were all made out. With the opening hour 9 o'clock, nearly 200 were moving nervously around the door.

At exactly 9 o'clock the sirens of motorcycle police came from around the corner. There wheeled into a view a half dozen bluecoats. They stopped quickly and formed a circle around a big black vehicle they were escorting. A lane was formed to the bank door. Out of the big black truck, into the bank, a stream of money poured. There were sacks of bills and the clink of silver dollars. There were sacks of gold.

The lane closed and the truck moved away. The bank's doors were swung open. A man mounted on a chair and began to speak. He was W. J. Bailey, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank. He reassured the anxious crowd, saying that the bank was in unusually sound condition, and ready to meet every demand upon it. Cashiers and tellers stood at their places. Before them were bills piled high, and the sacks of silver and gold. Bailey pointed to the windows. The depositors were satisfied. A wreck had been averted. Most of those who had come to withdraw their money left without it. The bank's credit had been re-established. Everything was going to be all right.

As the people filed out each carried a little red flower that had been given to them by two flower girls who passed among the crowd.

It was a run on the bank, but it changed into a reception. It was the most dramatic proof, too, that the Federal Reserve is a fine big institution in this country.

How much better way was this than the old way of letting the "run" ruin the bank, create a panic and demoralize business generally. The Federal Reserve Bank proved its worth here in an emergency as it has proved it in many other ways.—Huntsville Daily Times.

GOOD BACK MUSCLES TONE UP THE BODY

properly unless they are powerful, elastic and ready to act at a moment's notice.

A boxer must carry out rigid training if he is to have his tissues hard and firm, capable of resisting blows showered upon his body. His muscles become like iron through long training. They are capable of resisting any punishment without serious effect.

It is not expected, of course, that the average individual shall be so completely trained. It is expected, however, that everybody will take physical exercise in a systematic way so that all the muscles of the body are in good condition by reason of the daily training.

Many a fall, many a kink in the back, many a lame shoulder, many a limping leg—many such embarrassing conditions to comfort and efficiency are the result of softened muscles and consequent injury. It is rare indeed for one in good physical trim to suffer from any such symptom as I have suggested here. It is when you get out of condition, when your muscles are weak and flabby, that you do something to injure one of them and have a disability as the result.

Every time you have a sore muscle it should be a warning to you that you are neglecting the welfare of your body. When you are in proper trim no such symptom will come to plague you. Give thought to this subject and find a way to take the exercise you need so badly.

Wall Street Is Cheerful.
Nature Is Cruel.
Religious Divorce War.
The Celestial Movies.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright, 1926, by The Star Co. For Albany-Decatur Daily).

In offering Mr. Brisbane's daily editorials The Daily does not necessarily concur with his opinions, but offers them as the sentiments of the highest paid editorial writer in this country.

NATURE is cruel, as devoid of sentiment as a crocodile or any of its products.

A tornado struck Arkansas on Thanksgiving day, overwhelming families sitting at the holiday feast. Seventy dead, hundreds injured in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Missouri was the record.

IN Cuba and Florida, in the North, the West and across the ocean to Europe, tornadoes have done their destructive work within a few months.

The sun, source of light, heat and fuel, is blamed. A disturbance there, 99,000,000 miles away, means destruction here. We should be grateful for our safety, travelling so close to that huge furnace.

THEY had a pleasant time in Wall Street Friday, some stocks that foolish bears sold short going to new high records. When President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon lower income taxes they raise the value of every sound security.

FOUR railroads have increased wages of shophmen, showing intelligence in allowing crumbs from the prosperity table to fall within the reach of the workers. There is prosperity enough for all, and it will last longer if everybody has a little of it.

PROSPERITY'S step-children are the cotton growers and the textile manufacturers. Women that used to wear yards upon yards of material now wear about as much as is used to wrap a baby.

Northern textile workers worry about the removal of their industries to the South and they may.

Coal and iron, side by side, took the iron mills to Pittsburgh. Cotton, cheap power and labor side by side, naturally take the textile industries to the South.

IN THIS LAND of 115,000,000 religious have lived and worked peacefully, side by side. The first direct denunciation of one religion by another since Dr. Burchard's "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" speech comes in the denunciation of Rome and the Catholic church by Bishop Manning, head of the Protestant Episcopal church.

The Protestant dignitary denounces the annulment of the Marlborough-Vanderbilt wedding as "impertinent intrusion."

IT IS announced that Cardinal Hayes, of New York, considering the incident closed will make no reply to Bishop Manning beyond that already made by Monsignor Dunn, auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese.

The latter declares that the right of the Catholic church to annul marriage "derives from Christ, that church's divine founder."

MONSIGNOR DUNN, referring to the statement that Miss Vanderbilt was locked up and compelled to marry the Duke, says: "It did seem that the days of making women captives for marriage, had passed."

THE discussion interests and enlightens laymen, if somewhat beyond the reach of their feeble understanding.

Monsignor Dunn points out that "the Catholic church has always protested against selling women in marriage." In the Marlborough-Vanderbilt case it was rather the husband that was purchased, since the father of the bride provided millions as part of the marriage agreement.

IF interested in movies, hear from Natacha Rambova, second wife of Rudolph Valentino. She hears from Valentino's spirit that he will enter the movies in the spiritual world as "star in celestial super-specials."

It seems Valentino got used to the spirit, learned to live without a body very quickly, because good friends, Caruso, Wallace Reid, Sarah Bernhardt, were waiting to show him how.

MAN can not imagine anything that he has not seen.

The Asiatiks gave many legs, arms and heads to their gods. Swedenborg showed men on another world with grass colored faces. Christians give the devil horns, hoof and a spiked tail, and birds' wings to the angels. But they are all humans in their general make up.

THE stolid British enjoyed an exciting hour in the Stella Maris murder trial. A. F. A. Smith who murdered his friend, John T. Derham, told with streaming eyes how he wrote a love letter to his wife just before he murdered her lover.

Spectators sobbed and suddenly one of the two women on the jury stood up, screamed and fainted.

The widow of the murdered man, in deep black, was present. They have their exciting murder cases over there also, but they convict and hang the murderers.

GOVERNOR RITCHIE, of Maryland, conspicuous candidate for the democratic nomination, tells Chicago democrats that each state must settle the liquor issue for itself.

Governor Ritchie thinks prohibition "has bred more interstate discord, more political cowardice and hypocrites than anything in national life."

THE states are allowed to have their own divorce laws and marriage laws, and to experiment in many other ways. These things are not in the constitution. It will be a long time before the powerful active organization behind prohibition will allow liberty of action to any state on the liquor question.

Hoboes Of All States At Convention; Worried At Women Joining The Ranks

By International News Service OMAHA, Neb.—The annual convention of the International Brotherhood Welfare Association of Migratory and Casual Workers is a thing of the past here in Omaha, but memories of the gathering will remain in the minds of the local populace long after the speech of the Rotary Club speaker or the Kiwanian entertainer have been forgotten. The I. B. W. A. M. C. W. in case you don't know, is the national organization of tramps and hoboes.

With James Eads How, Chicago millionaire president of the organization presiding, sessions were held here for four days. More than a hundred members in good standing attended, coming from all sections of the country. Following adjournment most of them took freight trains going south, for the weather already was chilly, and the "hobo" as a body move south in the winter and return north in May.

Late Sleepers

Convention sessions were as a rule held in the afternoon and at night. It seems hoboes don't like to be aroused early, and by common consent all sessions were timed so that no one's slumbers would be disturbed in the forenoon.

To some the idea of hoboes holding a convention may seem absurd, but for the membership it is of as much importance as any service club gathering. The organization has national officers and local chapters. At the recent sessions world economics were discussed, and the present unsettled conditions of Russia were debated. However, the most important session had to do with ways and means of procuring better food while on the move. Instructions also were given to younger members on the best method of approach to be used in obtaining "lifts" from motorists. Riding "side door Pullmans" was not taken up. Each member is presumed to be an adept at this pastime, and if he isn't he doesn't mention the matter to his betters.

Women Hoboes

The question of women hoboes also stirred the assemblage, for the migratory workers say they find the female invading their heretofore sacred precincts in ever increasing numbers.

Efforts of a committee, named by President How, to invite Queen Marie, who visited Omaha while the convention was in session, to join the hoboes and partake of "mulligan" with them failed when the committee got lost in the crush at the station. It was declared by the convention that Marie was entitled to membership, for a "hobo" is a person who goes from place to place without paying fare, and that's what the Queen is doing.

Members who arrived late for the opening of the convention declared bad freight train connections were responsible.

Silk Hat Is Understood In Language Of All Countries Says Ray Griffith

The reason I wear a silk hat is because it's a symbol understood in all languages—including the Scandinavian," says Raymond Griffith, star of Paramount's comedy-mystery which comes to the Princess theatre tomorrow for a run of one day.

"A silk hat is sort of an esplanade of haberdashery. You can wear it anywhere, and someone will always want to knock it off or mash it down."

Griffith and his famed hat have never been so funny as in "You'd Be Surprised," a comedy-mystery in which Ray plays the role of a coroner trying to solve a mystery murder on a houseboat in time to get to theatre. Incidentally the mystery is as thrilling as the comedy is screaming, and when the plot thickens its solving would do credit to Sherlock Holmes himself. Griffith, B. P. Schulberg, associate producer in charge, and Arthur Ross, the director, join in requesting those who see the picture not to reveal its ending to their friends.

"My mother knew of the good Cardui could do, so she told me to take it. I sent and got a bottle, and seemed like all the time I grew stronger."

"I had been suffering with pains in my sides all the time, and Cardui helped this wonderfully. I needed a tonic for female troubles, and Cardui just fitted the need. I was awfully restless and could not sleep at night, but after taking two bottles of Cardui I could sleep like a top. I got along all right, and I know it was due to Cardui. I can certainly recommend it to women suffering from women's troubles."

Modern Women Need Abundant Supply of Energy

tempted, but actually succeeded in crossing this treacherous stretch of water.

Nature intended for all women to have strong healthy bodies when she provided certain roots and herbs of peculiar properties to help them correct the effects of neglect, exposure or over-indulgence.

The makers of St. Joseph's G. F. P. combined these roots and herbs into a vegetable compound and for more than 50 years women in all parts of the country have been using this preparation for that purpose for which it is intended.

Mrs. Mary Branham, 655 S. Parkway, Memphis, Tenn., says: "I was so tired and run down, I could hardly take care of my household and little ones."

"I started using G. F. P. and this medicine seemed to help me right away. Now I am on my sixth bottle. I have gained more than 12 pounds in weight and have so much energy, my work is just like play."

W. I. Heflin Is Dead
After Long Illness
At Moulton

BY E. M. HODSON

MOULTON, Ala., Nov. 30.— (Special)—W. I. Heflin, citizen of Moulton, passed away about four o'clock this morning, after confinement of but a few days to his room. Though apparently well he had not been in good health for several years, yet no one suspected his condition as critical. Mr. Heflin had spent the fifty-three years of his life in and around Moulton
where he conducted for several years a very successful mercantile business. For the past two or three years he has devoted his time to local business and cotton buying. He was one of the directors of the Citizens Bank of Moulton.

Mr. Heflin leaves his wife and one daughter, Miss Josephine, student at Alabama College, Monte-vallo; six sisters, Mrs. James Williams of Mount Hope, Mrs. John
Key, Mrs. G. W. Wade, Mrs. W. J.
Wade, Mrs. H. E. Weatherwax and Mrs. E. F. Weatherwax, all living in or near Moulton.

Burial services will be held at the Methodist church Wednesday morning with services conducted by the local pastor. Interment, with Priest of Albany in charge, at the Heflin cemetery, a mile west of Moulton.

A Sunday school convention was held at the Moulton Methodist church Sunday under the auspices of the Alabama council of Chris-

ONE reason for Frigidaire's overwhelming popularity is the fact that it freezes more ice, by actual weight, than other electric refrigerators of the same size.

The Frigidaire freezing trays are self-sealing. The white enameled fronts of the ice trays completely overlap the tray openings, thus sealing the intense cold of the frost coil within the freezing compartment. Frigidaire freezes ice quickly and solidly, regardless of room temperatures.

Long ago, Frigidaire discarded the brine tank in favor of the more efficient frost coil. The frost coil assures simpler, quicker temperature control, which is so accurate and stable that it never has to be adjusted once it has been properly set.

Frigidaire is superior in ice-freezing capacity, food storage space, low operating cost and quiet operation. Frigidaire offers unequalled sturdiness of construction and beauty of design. Frigidaire offers a permanent and thoroughly trained and established service organization. It is the only electric refrigerator guaranteed by General Motors.

"DON'T TELL THE WIFE," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros.
picture of this novel.

SYNOPSIS.

Ranny Forbes, star polo player, and his beautiful wife, Joan, are temperamental misfits. Joan wants a divorce, but Ranny con-fides to his chum, Clay, that he loves her. He secretly discovers that she loves another man, Abner Gratman, Stiver, lumber king with whom Ranny has pending a gigantic business deal, wagers fifty thousand on Ranny's team in the International Match. Victory will mean business good will. Ranny learns that the wager is with Abner Gratman! Abner maliciously accuses Ranny a nasty fall. Ranny accuses Joan of accepting Stiver's yachting invitation only because Abner is to be a guest—

CHAPTER IV.—Continued

There were too many people too near for Joan to throw her wanted tantrum. Yet the mere look of a married woman can sometimes be very eloquent, very soul blasting, very vicious—and understood as such only by her husband. Joan's was!

Ranny felt rather as though a boomerang had smote him as he made his way moodily towards the paddock, faced with a polo game finish in which, if he played as he felt, he would probably lose the biggest business deal for which he had ever bled!

And faced, beyond that, with a yachting trip week-end in which,
even if he felt better than he now
did, he would probably lose his wife!

This frame of mind continued to hang down upon him like a wet fog as he mechanically mounted Judy, mechanically cantered to midfield and awaited the toss-in,
and mechanically blocked and rode and stroked after the opening scrimmage had quickly melted into one of those dazzling and wide-centered dashes, hither and thither

The crowd, realizing that it was witnessing the greatest individual rally in all the bright history of Long Island polo, forgot its attenuated inhibitions and went into uproar more reminiscent of college football than of society's polo matches.

Drizzle—drizzle! Smart hits, at unexpected angles, pulling turns always nearer and nearer to the Argentine goal; always nearer to a complete demoralization of the great Argentine team, whose defense was being shattered into smithereens by one man and one pony, who rode more like wrath than like flesh and blood.

Now Ranny was back again on the side of the field where his sedition was reached. He hustled the ball in a beautifully direct line down field just inside the board.

A wild-eyed Argentine rider and snorting pony loomed ahead. Ran-ny adroitly cut the ball past the defending mallet, deeper into the field, still past with Judy, and before the Argentine could wheel—crowded back towards the board, and tore out on out!

His swirling rush had left the other players, friend and foe alike, far behind now, and he had broken down at last the beautiful team work defense of the Argentines.

No one loomed ahead of him. Far off to Ranny's right the Argentine Captain was feeling down the center of the field on a mad race to try and thrust himself and his pony in front of the goal and thus block Ranny's coming shot. But it was a hopeless errand. He could not expect to beat the ball to the paper mache post. Ranny knew it. The crowd knew it. The Argentine Captain himself knew it.
Yet he hooped. That was the dauntless spirit of polo.

The moment for which Ranny, in his wild, had been directing his course, came. Without the slightest slackening of his whirlwind speed, he deliberately smashed the ball into the side board.

His sureness of stroke and purpose was as skillful as that of the most expert billiardist on a salon table. The ball caromed off, deep into the field, and rolled in a dead line and angle towards the Argentine goal, so that all there remained for Ranny to do now was to let Judy head in towards mid-field, approaching the ball on his hitting side. Then it would be merely up to him to make a straight smash, so sure and simple that the greenest amateur could not dub it.

Judy knew what to do without any hint from her rider. Holding her nose low and whistling through it, she stretched her mallet. The crowd was in a tempest. Even those portly or blasé spectators who had stayed up to this point, in their cars got out and excitedly crowded close to the board.

None of that enthralled multitude but was out of his car and on his toes, watching. None that is except two, whose interest lay not in the outcome of Ranny's mallet
but in the fond lights of each other's eyes.

Out of the corner of his gleaming, triumphant, game-bound eyes Ranny saw these two just at that moment he veered in to make his killing shot. He was abreast of his sedan in that instant.
